Hi Peter,

Jenna was pretty excited about the workshop experience. She did admit that she liked some food choices better than others but she said although that at first it was hard adjusting, she was fine with the food once she got used to it, and she still plans on eating that way to stay healthy. We are supporting this and are trying to eat healthier too! She was very excited about meeting the special guest stars and loved all her instructors and classes, especially yoga! She found it to be very relaxing [WHICH IS GOOD FOR HER!] especially being a teenager, as she has always had a perfectionist personality and is too hard on herself!! [a gifted child's trait]. She is in tune with her feelings though, but she worries me sometimes and I just want her to always take care of herself. She did a great job at the showcase! I was crying, we were so proud of her! The showcase was impressive and it was nice to see how well all the kids performed. Jenna said she and all the kids were happy about getting to eat Ray's pizza! Jenna has talked to me about a mini workshop and says she wants to do a weekend one. I know it would be a good thing for Jenna to work with you, if you will agree to working with her, in the pursuing of her personal and professional goals toward a career in the arts. Possibly the Oct. Columbus Day weekend workshop, do you still have space available? If not let us know if any other weekends are available. Also, I need to know how to contact the photographer for the photo shoot pictures.

Thank you again,
Sincerely,
Nancy Cummings
