to me

Dear Peter,

It has been just over a week since Alex arrived home and he is still very much six feet off the ground. I am extremely wowed and impressed by his transformation. I say to myself "how is it possible for my child to have changed so drastically in just one week?" He has all of us eating the way he learned at the workshop with no sign of stopping or wavering. He has this new confidence and belief in himself for which I am amazed, and emotionally grateful. Alex has always been a natural story teller and my "drama" child from the day he was born and I feel certain that he has found the right place for which to express himself.

Of course without hesitation, Alex would love to attend the mini-workshop next June 29 -July 5th. Thank you very much for the invitation!!

We will send in the registration right away.

Sincerely,
Nicole Clydesdale
